“Quit asking God for the impossible. He doesn’t even know what you are talking about.” – Henry Aoun

“Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh; is there anything too difficult for Me?” – Jeremiah 32:27

Dear Friends,

Greetings from Orlando! A couple weeks ago, I returned from my trip to Asia. I had asked you to pray for that trip and while the airport was closed for a short time due to the hurricane, it did open about 12 hours before my flight which allowed me to continue on to Malaysia for a training I helped lead along with some really faithful friends. Thank you for praying!

At the end of the Malaysia time, instead of returning home, I continued on to South Africa for the Operations Leadership Connection. We do not get together very often globally so that was a very special time. During that gathering, we were blessed to hear from our former leader in North Africa and the Middle East. He has led that ministry in such a difficult part of the world for over 20 years and stepped out of that role just a few months ago to pass the torch onto my friend Aziz. It was a great blessing to hear from a man with such a positive spirit who has trusted God for incredible things during his time of leadership. I just love Henry’s quote from above from the first day, don’t you? When we ask God for the impossible, He doesn’t even understand the language we are using because nothing is impossible for Him.

Our Southeast Asian Operations Leaders in South Africa

As I continue to work with Geoff (far left above) in handing over my previous Southeast Asia operations role, another trip is coming up next week which we would really appreciate your prayers for. Crystal (second from right above, Daniel (light shirt) and Jojo and Kerren next to me in front (photo on the right) will be doing a training and implementation of a versatile software that will take our ministries into the future, but, we will be working with 4 countries at the same time who don’t speak English well. They are smart and very servant-hearted. I consider it a special privilege to lead them in helping these countries. These are secure countries so I cannot share the names but they are in Southeast Asia where God is moving in incredible ways. I hope to share more when I come back before Thanksgiving.
